Thermal Vacuum Carafes

Vacuum insulation provides the best heat retention. Vacuum means the air between the outer and inner layers of the stainless steel or glass has been removed to create a vacuum insulation. It blocks heat from transferring through air which greatly minimizes the temperature change of your drink. A vacuum insulated thermal carafe can maintain the temperature much longer than a non-insulated container.

Glass Vacuum Liner: They are excellent at temperature retention, have easy to clean surface that flavor or odor of contents do not adhere to, but if dropped are susceptible to breakage (inner liners may be replaced).

Stainless Steel Liner: They are strong, have excellent temperature retention with recommended pre-use preparation.
