Beating Our Carbon20 Target*

2013 Carbon Footprint

Cutting carbon by targeting product use

We are building on our success in reducing carbon emissions in pursuit of our new target to cut our footprint by a third by the end of the decade.

Our aim is to reduce emissions per dose across the product lifecycle, targeting the products and uses which have the biggest impact. As with water, consumer use of our hygiene products is the biggest contribution to emissions.

Our total lifecycle carbon emissions per dose fell by 7% in 2013. Key drivers of this reduction include the increasing efficiency of dishwashing and washing machines plus changes in our product portfolio resulting in a greater proportion of products with lower / no carbon impacts during consumer use.

Every drop counts

Water is plentiful in some regions but increasingly scarce in others. It is therefore essential to target our water efficiency action where it is most needed – not just on the products that use the most water but where there is least water to go around.

Our 9% reduction in water impact per dose in 2013 is due to a variety of factors which include shifts in our portfolio to less water intensive products, increased use of less water intensive packaging and efficiencies in dishwashers and washing machines that result in less water use.

Resource-wise & people-safe

We are improving production processes to increase efficiency, meet our social standards and keep our people safe.

In 2013, our performance on water use reduction in manufacturing beat our 2020 target six years early. As a result we have increased our target from a 10% reduction to 35%.

Overall, we stepped up activity on water and waste, succeeding in reducing water per unit by 19% and waste per unit by almost 3%.

Performance per unit of production (% reduction in 2013)

Tree planting

Continuing our tree planting project in Canada means our global production remains effectively carbon neutral.

Our key Better Production targets for 2020

Safety

- Zero fatalities and serious accidents in all sites and continued reduction in lost work day accident rates
- 100% manufacturing sites with certified environmental, health and safety (EHS) management systems

Social

- 100% compliance with RB social standards

Environment

Water

- 35% reduction in water use (per unit of production)
- Meet minimum wastewater standards

Waste

- Zero waste to landfill
- 10% reduction in waste (per unit of production)

Energy and emissions

- 35% reduction in energy consumption (per unit of production)
- 40% reduction in greenhouse gas emissions (per unit of production)
- Effectively carbon neutral manufacturing
