Ceramic Tile Membrane - Fabric

Traxx TraxxShield100 moisture & anti-fracture membrane

TraxxShield100™ has been designed and developed to solve the problem of moisture vapor emission damage from concrete slabs into the finished flooring at relative humidity levels up to 100%. Its special formulation of rubberized copolymers not only provides this moisture suppression quality, but the adhesion properties allow the contractor to adhere this underlayment to the concrete slab. The flooring contractor now has the confidence that he has installed a fully integrated flooring system. The proprietary fabric design of the top layer is unique in both blocking moisture vapor emission from the slab upward and blocking plasticizer migration from the floor covering downward. This top fabric layer also provides an excellent bonding surface for applying the floor covering adhesives.

TraxxShield100™ has been designed and developed to solve the problem of moisture vapor emission damage from concrete slabs into the finished flooring at relative humidity levels up to 100%. Its special formulation of rubberized copolymers not only provides this moisture suppression quality, but the adhesion properties allow the contractor to adhere this underlayment to the concrete slab. The flooring contractor now has the confidence that he has installed a fully integrated flooring system. The proprietary fabric design of the top layer is unique in both blocking moisture vapor emission from the slab upward and blocking plasticizer migration from the floor covering downward. This top fabric layer also provides an excellent bonding surface for applying the floor covering adhesives.
