WHAT MAKES A GOOD BATH- ROOM?

Philippe Grohe,
head of the Axor brand and grandson of the company founder, in an interview.

When it comes to technical innovation, Hansgrohe is a company with long-standing tradition. When did the area of design become part of this? Was it a logical consequence?

The Axor brand was established in 1993 but even before that time, Hansgrohe had already produced technically impressive products. Showers and faucets. Of course, these also looked good. In other words, design has always been a key focus at Hansgrohe. By exchanging ideas with other designers, we wanted to complement our ideas on the bathroom of the future with visions, lifestyles and trends that go beyond the product. That gives life and emotions to the room. This is something that we cannot do alone. And it is something that cannot be achieved by just one designer. Therefore, we work with several creative designers.

You have already commissioned the services of many prestigious designers. Do you appoint a new designer for each collection?

We now partner with multiple international designers and architects with whom we hold regular open discussions. Some have already developed two or three collections with us.

How much freedom do you give to the designers?

We put our full trust in our designers' visions and powers of innovation. When we first collaborated with one of the most famous designers of our time, we truly experienced the big bang. The first complete bathroom with faucets, showers, sinks and bathtub was created from a single designer. Philippe Starck's bathroom. It was a revolution.

Since then, has it been about more than just faucets?

That's right. It's about the entire room, an atmosphere and above all, a new way of looking at life and how we use water in the bathroom. This is why it's advantageous if our designers are also interior designers or architects. In addition to the faucets and showers, we also work with them to develop sinks, bathtubs, accessories and, of course, comprehensive bathroom solutions.

You look for designers with different, sometimes even highly conflicting, styles and attitudes. What do you regard as fruitful collaboration with creative minds?

For the Axor brand, the designer's vision is at the forefront. Designers should develop their own personal bathroom. We do not regard them as suppliers, but as creative partners with whom we can exchange ideas as equals. During this process, each of the partners offers their own expertise. From our perspective, this is our water and industrial bathroom expertise as well as a certain design culture.

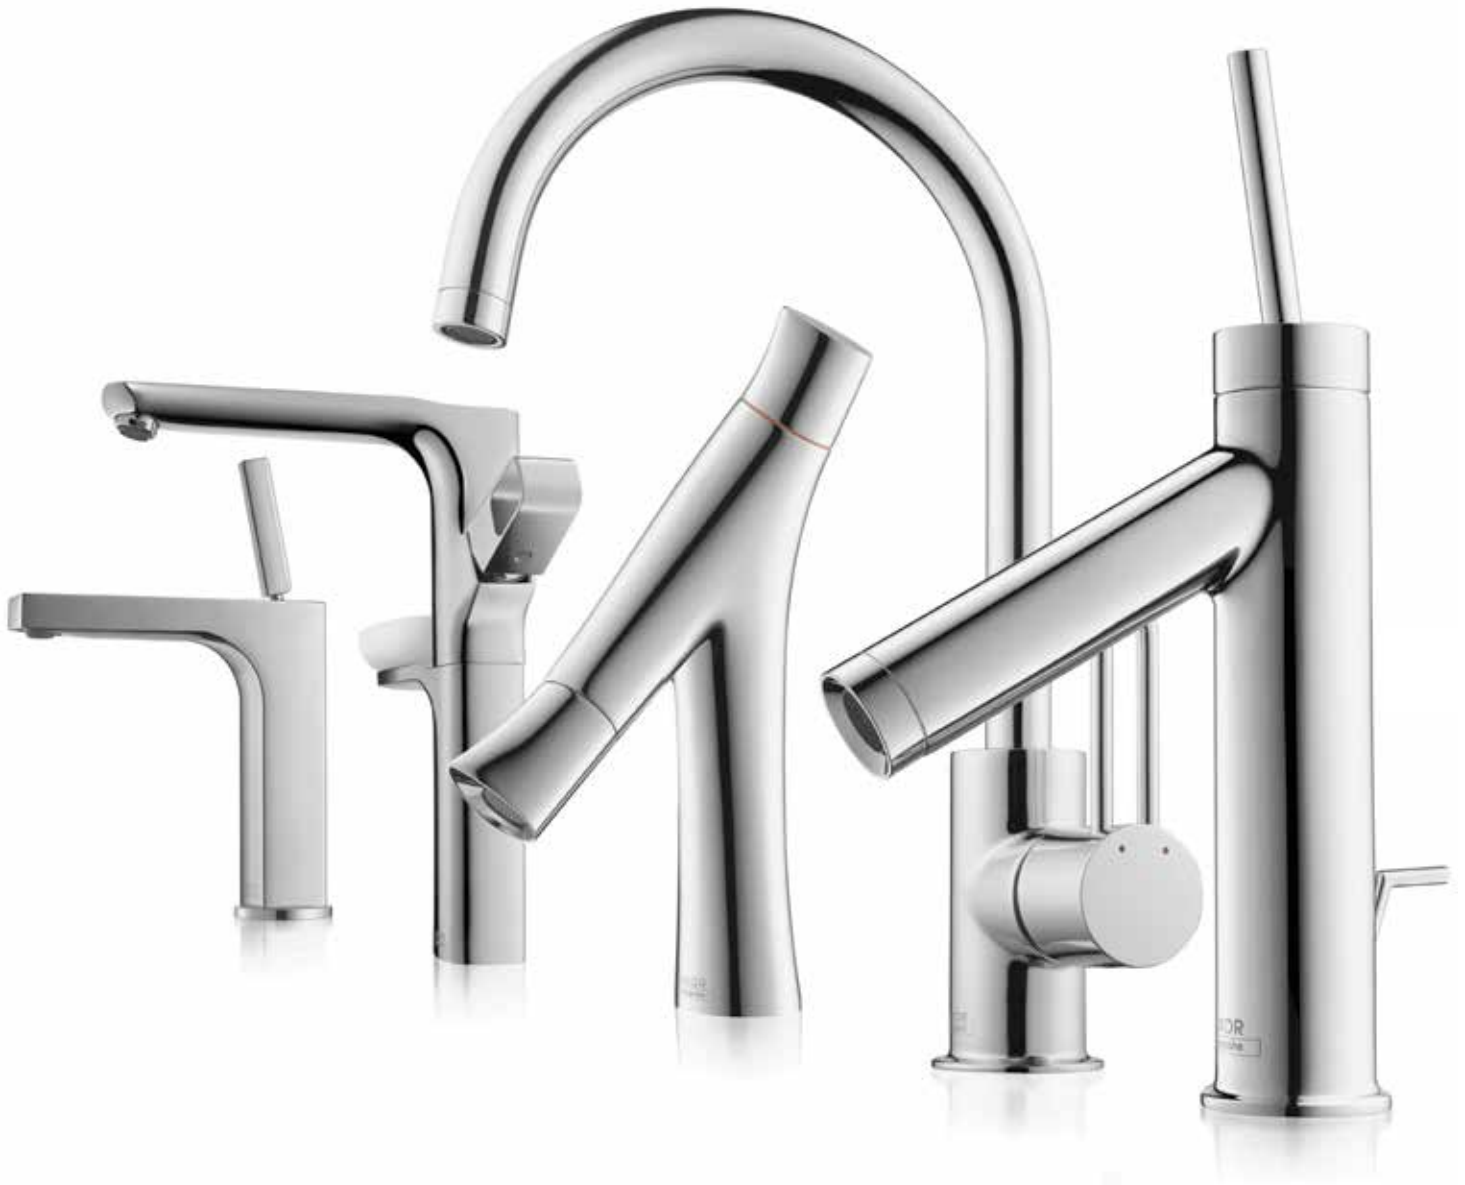

To what extent have the requirements for bathrooms changed over the last few years and decades?

The bathroom is changing from a place of hygiene to a place for living. This is partly attributable to our lifestyle habits. In the past, we had extremely close ties to nature. Now, our lives are dominated by an urban world and hectic everyday situations. We therefore have a growing need for a sense of tranquility and a natural experience. More and more people are discovering the bathroom as a place for relaxation and wellbeing. And it is not without a little pride that we believe we have made an important contribution to this. Antonio Citterio once said that we only have to stand under the shower for 30 seconds to get clean. So why do we shower for three or five minutes? Because it changes how we feel afterwards. However, wellbeing also means using a great deal of water, which naturally poses a major technical challenge for us. After all, one thing is clear: We have to conserve the precious commodity of water. And so, we are certainly not going to get bored.

AXOR'S DIVERSE STYLES

Collections and solutions that offer a fresh perspective on the bathroom as a living area are developed in collaboration with the world's best designers.

MAKING OF

HOW A COLLECTION IS CREATED.

USING
MASSAUD
AS AN EXAMPLE.

▲ JEAN-MARIE MASSAUD

The French designer is among the leading representatives of nature-inspired design. He often finds inspiration for his designs and architecture in nature. There is no disputing that the "Truffle" lounge chair resembles a natural truffle. His latest masterpiece, the Mexican "Chivas" soccer stadium, harmoniously blends into the volcanic landscape.

▲ As far back as 2005, Jean-Marie Massaud realized his ideal vision of a bathroom within the scope of the Axor WaterDream project. For him, this is a symbiosis of the natural elements of fire, water, earth and air.

AXOR WATERDREAM — MASSAUD'S BATHROOM DREAM.

All new Axor collections start with a personal vision. For Jean-Marie Massaud, the bathroom is a living space in which technology disappears and the focus instead falls on emotional experiences and the associated comfort and convenience. In describing his WaterDream project, initiated with the Axor brand in 2005, he commented, "I visualize a lake in the heart of the countryside. I want to feel like I'm sitting by a campfire, listening to music and sipping champagne, and simply clear my mind." A feeling of complete relaxation.

Jean-Marie Massaud starts by considering the room in which his occupant resides. He defines wellbeing as a holistic concept and lets the individual, water and space melt into one.

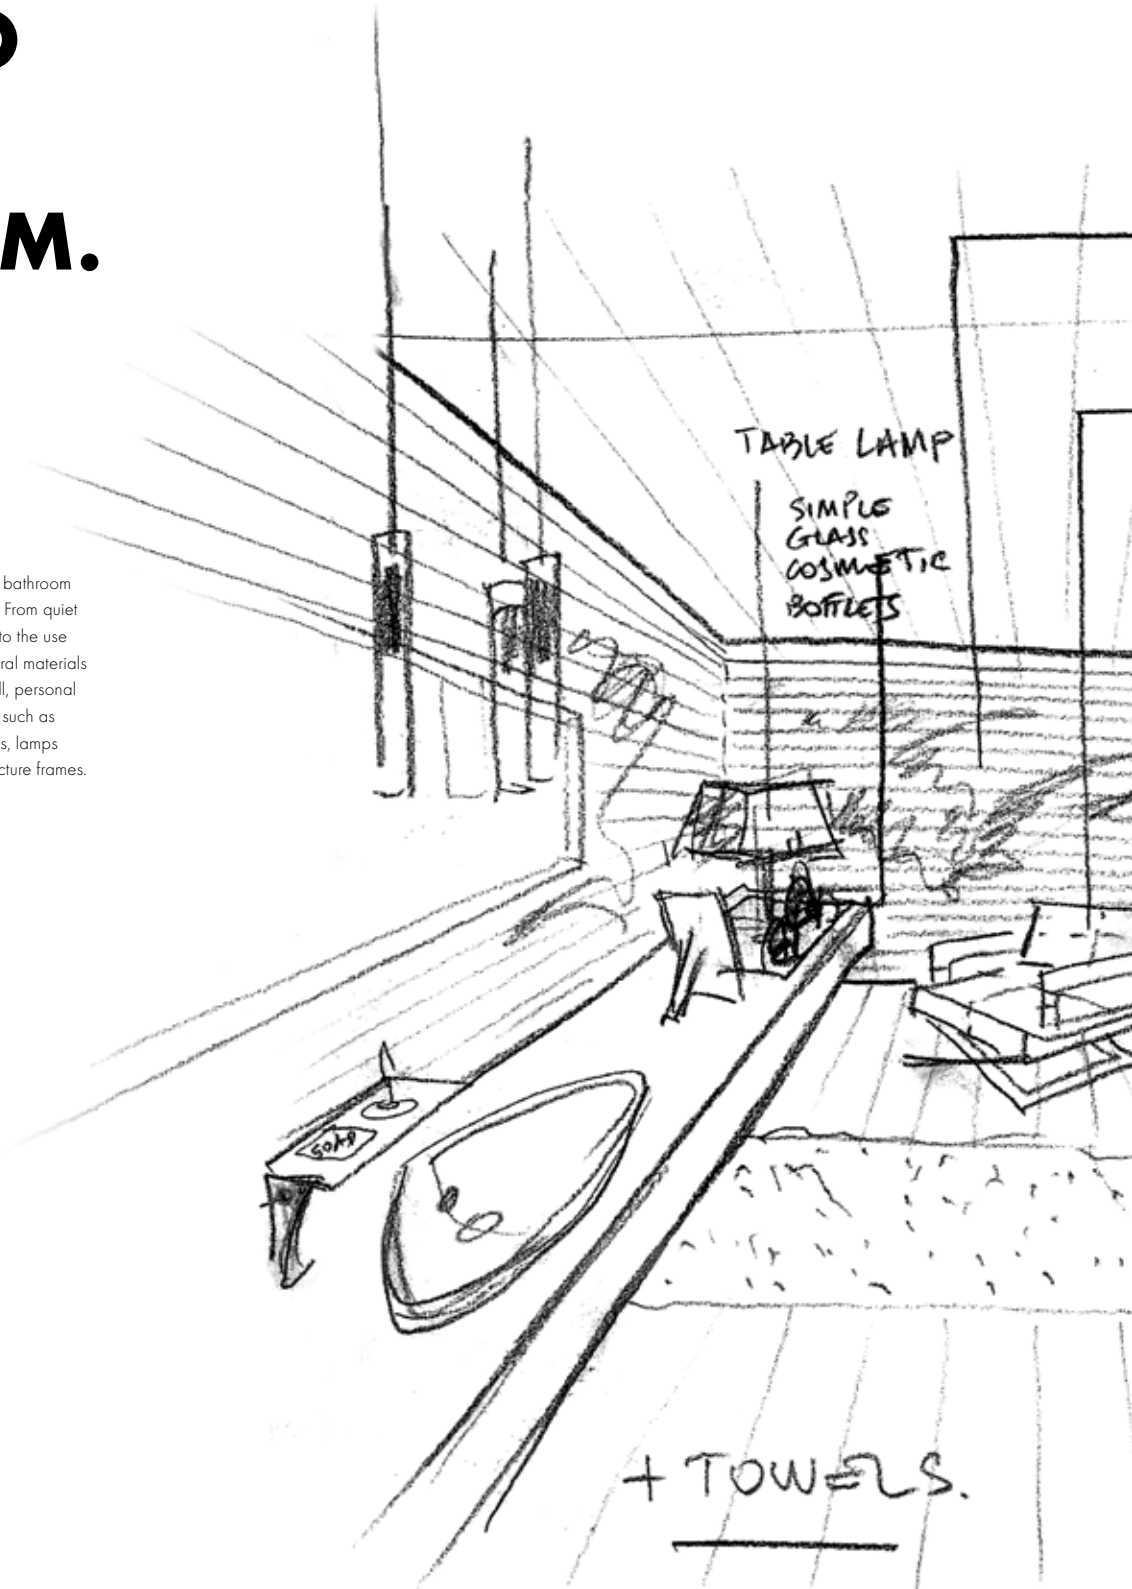

FROM WATER DREAM TO A DREAM BATHROOM.

WARM END OF THE DAY

During the design process, the vision of the dream bathroom develops into a harmonious work that combines architecture, materials, lighting and bathroom products.

All creative partners that work with the Axor brand think beyond the actual product and its pure functionality for personal hygiene purposes. Different concepts for the room and its use is developed through discussions between the designers and architects.

► The bathroom layout: From quiet zones to the use of natural materials to small, personal details such as candles, lamps and picture frames.

LIGHT + CANDLES

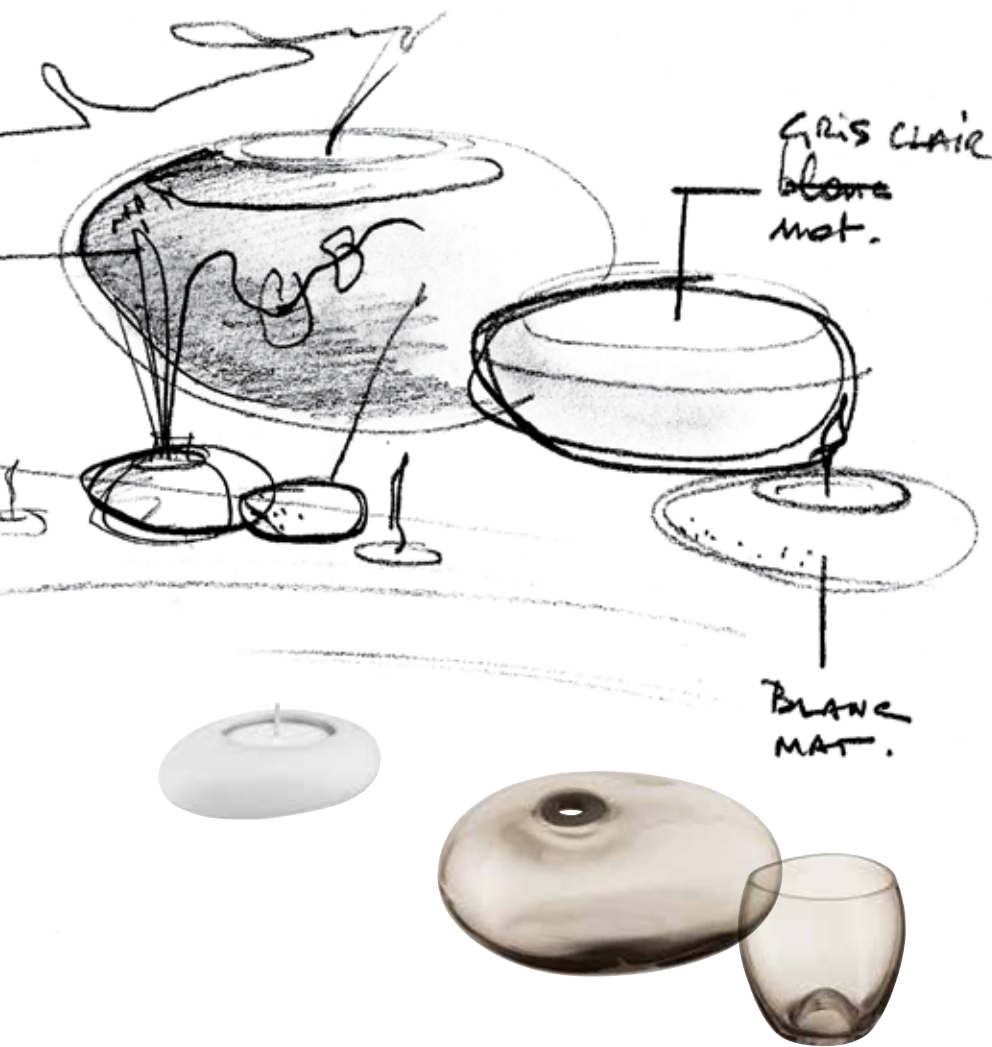

Does a dream bathroom have to be large? "Not at all," insists Philippe Grohe in contradiction to the prevailing opinion that designer bathrooms cannot be created without a sizable room. "It is not the size of the bathroom that determines the quality, but the basic elements that convey the idea of the room concept." The designers' main ideas for room concepts can also be realized in small rooms and thus ideas about room concepts complement people's highly individual needs. The designers' basic room concept ideas can be realized in bathrooms of all sizes – from the standard to the luxurious.

NATURE-INSPIRED DESIGN — FROM FAUCETS TO TOWEL RACKS.

◀ Jean-Marie Massaud creates harmony between organic lines and geometric shapes.

► Nature-inspired design: Axor Massaud quotes organic shapes from nature. A waterfall from the sink, a branching tree, stones.

In Jean-Marie Massaud's idea of the perfect bathroom, the resident brings the experience of nature into the home. In this regard, he first designed the room and then, in a second stage, the products whose character supports the idea of the nature-inspired room. The complete bathroom collection has therefore been designed in an organic style: Pebbles, branches, logs and grass inspire an extraordinary collection. The body of the most striking product, the single-hole faucet, resembles a blade of grass. With an integrated shelf, the faucet becomes a functional sculpture. In addition to the faucet, sink and bathtub, nature has also provided the inspiration for the accessories. Axor has thus developed a candle holder, soap dish, flower vase, tumbler and towel rack using ideas from the French designer's sketches and desires. The towel rack cites Massaud's philosophy as a branching tree, the vase celebrates the ritual use of water and the vase and the candle holder resemble pebbles that would caress the hand.

In his Axor WaterDream project, Massaud demonstrated his philosophy that a faucet's technical aspects should be hidden in the background. He wants to move beyond purely functional plumbing fixtures and provide additional benefits. So what does a faucet look like if it is more than just a tap?

“What Massaud presented to us,” comments Philippe Grohe, “was absolutely futuristic, and a little crazy.” But most of all, it was simply brilliant. Designers working on the Axor brand therefore did everything it could to turn his idea into a reality. “To make the water flow quietly and smoothly out of the faucet's spout we had to completely redesign the interior workings of a faucet,” Horst Flieger, Head of the Hansgrohe Research and Development department, remembers. “Creating the optimum spray pattern was extremely difficult.” To create this elegant water jet, the experts at the Hansgrohe ShowerLab had to incorporate highly sophisticated technology into an extremely flat plate. The successful result: A faucet from which a beautiful waterfall flows; a particularly pleasant experience that uses little water.

▲ The designer Jean-Marie Massaud and the Axor development team were involved in extensive discussions. They regularly met for coordination meetings. After a development period of more than three years, Axor Massaud was finally introduced to the market.

AXOR MASSAUD. FROM THE BLACK FOREST TO THE WHOLE WORLD.

Design is not the only thing that shimmers. Every faucet and shower is deeply rooted in the history of Hansgrohe and a commitment to ensuring the best quality through German engineering and manufacturing.

Located in the same city where the company was founded, the Axor plant in Schiltach is one of five world-class Hansgrohe production plants in Germany. Here, cutting-edge German engineering meets years of tradition to create the more than 5,000 different products of the Axor collections, each of which exudes superb workmanship, design and technology.

A brief glance at the production processes quickly shows onlookers that the plant does not manufacture mass-produced products. In the two-floor facility, employees work on the designer products in several shifts. It takes a great deal of craftsmanship to turn the designers' visions into reality.

Their high requirements give rise to many different production stages, such as precise casting and cutting or subjecting the geometric surfaces to even more intensive processes to ensure that they are optimally chrome-plated. The cast piece is refined like a raw diamond in many individual stages until the final product is achieved. Even the base of the Axor Massaud faucet is hand-polished until it acquires a brilliant shine.

◀ Axor Massaud

The manufacture of each product is a labor-intensive process. Each undergoes numerous individual stages and quality controls before it finds a place in an Axor Massaud bathroom.

◀ The start of an Axor Massaud faucet: Currently still a raw and inconspicuous brass bar, the raw material melts in the furnace at over 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The liquid metal now takes on a recognizable form.

▲ The faucet enters the polishing stage: The rough casting is polished by hand. To ensure that the surface has an impressive shine, all flat surfaces and edges are polished manually.

◀ The brass faucet is placed in an electrolytic immersion bath. In one of the most modern plating systems, the faucet now receives a brilliantly shiny chrome layer that ensures long-lasting durability. It bathes in several electrolytic baths for up to an hour.

▼ A single Axor Massaud faucet comprises almost 30 individual components. In the final assembly, the specialized Axor Massaud workers assemble all parts together to create the finished product: The hoses and the cartridge – known as the faucet's “engine” – disappear into the body, the special waterfall aerator is screwed into the metal plate and the handle is adjusted. No product leaves the factory without first being tested for leaks and optimum spray performance.

“WATER IS AN ELIXIR OF LIFE. IT THEREFORE DESERVES OUR FULL RESPECT AND CONSIDERATION.”

KLAUS GROHE

Jean-Marie Massaud’s philosophy of “nature-inspired design” is based on the idea of harmony between man, water and space. However, the interaction of design, technology and the careful use of our resources shapes every Axor project. In this regard, we value the precious commodities of water and energy. It is no wonder that this is also why the designers chose to work with Axor.

It is most likely our location in the Black Forest that teaches Hansgrohe to respect nature, on which we have always been reliant. Hansgrohe has always regarded itself as a pioneer of environmental protection – long before “sustainability” became a corporate buzz word.

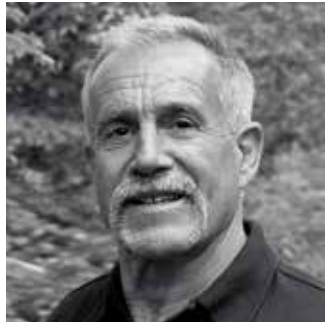

The company was one of the first in the industry to promote resource-conserving technologies. Sustainability is a central topic that covers multiple aspects, including ecological, economical and social responsibility. A bathroom in which people should enjoy a sense of wellbeing for more than 20 years has high demands in terms of sustainability: a design that will outlive all fashion trends, durable materials and excellent innovative strength in matters of quality and technology.

► In the heart of the Black Forest, the primordial element of water is all around.

EXAMPLES OF OUR GREEN COMMITMENT:

- 1987 — Hansgrohe develops the first water-saving shower, which uses 50% less water than previous showers.
- 1993 — Hansgrohe puts into operation Germany's largest photovoltaic plant which produces its own solar power.

▲ Klaus Grohe, son of the company founder and Chair of the Supervisory Board, was the first in the industry to dedicate himself to the development of low-consumption water usage systems.

► The solar tower in Offenburg has been a symbol of our environmental responsibility since 1994.

1994

- Hansgrohe generates its own electricity from its solar tower in the Offenburg plant and is a pioneer in eco-architecture.
- 2008 — The first Hansgrohe Water Symposium takes place. Experts, scientists and practitioners examine a broad range of water-related topics in lectures and workshops.
- 2009 — EcoRight technology reduces the water consumption of all Axor faucets from 2.2 to 1.5 GPM through a pressure-independent flow limiter.
- 2010 — Axor forum in Kochi, India, on the topic "The added value of design with regard to sustainability" with the designer Jean-Marie Massaud as a guest speaker.
- 2012 — Axor Starck Organic faucet with unique shower spray, featuring an exceptionally efficient 0.9 GPM flow rate.

For many years, Axor collections have been incorporated into outstanding architectural projects all over the world. Truly impressive architecture for everyone's enjoyment. The types of projects could not be more different, yet they all have several things in common: A high demand for quality, innovative design and a respectful use of water. The Axor brand is therefore equally at home in outstanding office buildings, luxurious yachts, exclusive residential projects and many other international projects. Residential building owners find specialized solutions for creating their own individual bathroom experiences, while the exclusivity of the design and the intelligent use of water are often decisive factors for public building owners and architects.

The major urban construction project on ex-industrial brownfield land is becoming the new skyline of Milan. A 3,000,000-square-foot urban area is springing up, designed to cater to residents' living and working requirements. Sustainability is also central to the development of the high-rise apartment buildings Aria, Solaria and Solea: Not only does the 469-foot-high Solaria, the tallest residential building in Milan, and its smaller companions offer a breathtaking view from the Cathedral to the Alps, they are also absolutely resplendent, featuring space utilization concepts constructed to the latest standards. Exclusive interiors and bathrooms steeped in timeless, simple elegance are offered in four furnishing style options, each one in harmony with one of the diverse styles of the Axor collections.

HOTEL MANDARIN ORIENTAL BARCELONA, SPAIN

The Mandarin Oriental hotel is located on the elegant Passeig de Gràcia shopping street, just a stone's throw away from Gaudí's famous Casa Batlló. Born in Spain, the award-winning designer Patricia Urquiola uses her interior design concept to highlight the Asian roots of the Hong Kong hotel group and reinterprets the luxurious oasis with her European perspective. Her characteristic style mix can be seen in every corner: Abstract flowers blossom on an orange silk rug, gold leaf clouds adorn the ceilings and golden grilles resemble the wrought-iron gates of Barcelona. The Axor Urquiola collection harmoniously blends into bathrooms.

This award-winning project, often referred to as a "hotel in a garden", represents a new paradigm of green architecture. Each room looks out onto lush greenery: Either the garden terraces or nearby Hong Lim Park. The plants are sustained by collected rainwater. Exclusively natural products or recycled materials are used in the bathrooms. So the faucets from Axor Urquiola, which look just like they evolved naturally, integrate perfectly into the bathroom environment.

The Villa Magnolia is situated on a hill among pine trees and cypresses, covering an area of 11,000-square-feet, and features a patio, garden, swimming pool, and every luxury you can think of – modern, yet classic. The façade's white sandstone and exotic Okoumé wood give the Villa a unique aesthetic charm. The nine bathrooms were each inspired by the bathroom concepts of different designers, including Antonio Citterio, Patricia Urquiola and Ronan & Erwan Bouroullec.

The highly anticipated Las Vegas outpost of the luxury hotel brand SLS opened in August 2014 to rave reviews. Led by global design firm Gensler in collaboration with internationally acclaimed Creator Philippe Starck and SBE Founder, Chairman and CEO Sam Nazarian, the aesthetic of SLS Las Vegas channels a myriad of inspirations. A major creative force behind the SLS Hotels in Beverly Hills and South Beach, (which also feature Axor Starck), Starck approached the Vegas property in a similar way, infusing irreverent narratives into his design philosophies. While there is a shared design vocabulary among them, SLS Las Vegas draws from its prime location on the famed Strip, capturing its exciting, fast paced and fun vibe. To add to the playful meets luxe theme, bathrooms in the property and the hotel's Ciel Spa are outfitted with Axor Starck products.

ROSE RESIDENCE PALM SPRINGS, CA

- Designer: PSMoDern, LLC
- Collections: Hansgrohe Raindance, Axor Starck Organic, Axor Citterio SemiPro, Axor Citterio Prep

The Rose project was a complete remodel of a 1960s Charles Dubois designed mid-century modern home in Palm Springs, California that included an infrastructural upgrade (plumbing, electric, HVAC systems, etc.) to current codes and standards. Working with a clean and minimalist interior design, PSMoDern used Hansgrohe and Axor products in all bathrooms and in the kitchen with the faucets providing the jewels of the space. In the master bathroom, the sweeping and curvaceous forms of the Axor Starck Organic Faucet and the Hansgrohe Raindance E 420 AIR 1-Jet Showerhead and arm help to break up the linear lines of the interior detailing. The Axor Citterio SemiPro Kitchen Faucet and Axor Citterio Prep Kitchen Faucet attract attention with their chrome finish and elongated lines. With the water restrictions in California, Hansgrohe's efficient EcoRight technology and construction of its fittings help with the implementation of the firm's commitment to sustainability.

THE AESTHETICS OF MINIMALISM.

In today's hectic world, people are yearning more and more for tranquility and simplicity. The Axor Starck bathroom collection focuses on the basics, the enjoyment of water. The principle of minimalism can be seen in the basic shapes and clear functions. There are no distractions. A bathroom collection, designed by Philippe Starck, that will never go out of fashion. Like a fountain that springs up from the depths of the earth, we can draw from Axor Starck and refresh our bodies and minds in a bathroom that offers tranquility and relaxation.

The discovery of simplicity:
The faucet's shape is inspired by a simple water pump.

A place to retreat from our hectic world. Personal accents such as a wooden floor, an open fireplace and the bathtub, which is spaciouly positioned in the room, make the bathroom a place of wellbeing.

In designing the two-handle faucet, Philippe Starck took his inspiration from two rivers coming together.

The Axor Starck faucet is available with two different handle designs: A minimalist, cylindrical handle and the classic feather shaped handle.

The Axor Starck X faucet has an almost sculptural design language. The square plate seems to weightlessly hover above the sink.

Axor Starck Organic

FOLLOW YOUR HEAD AND YOUR HEART.

The Axor Starck Organic collection appeals to heart and intellect in equal measure. Philippe Starck brings design and technology, ecology and economy, together in harmony. We can enjoy a particularly sensual water experience using the faucet's unique shower spray, and save water too. The revolutionary operating concept, with separate temperature and water volume control, makes us more aware of our consumption of water. And the organic minimalist design shapes the entire collection, from the faucets to the accessories.

The faucet was stripped of anything unnecessary.
Leaving only its essence: Organic, minimalist design.

The design of the Axor Starck Organic collection is sculptural and characterized by slender beauty.
The two handles are harmoniously integrated into the faucet body.

- ▶ Unique, organic design: Soft shapes and flowing transitions
- ▶ Minimalist form: The handles and faucet body meld into one
- ▶ Harmonious design in all handle positions, and from all angles
- ▶ Continues the design legacy of the Axor Starck family
- ▶ Harmoniously blends into any bathroom environment

How pleasant can water feel? Unbelievably voluminous with low water consumption.

Advantages of Separate Operation:

Temperature Control

- ▶ Preset your preferred temperature
- ▶ Harmonious design in all handle positions, and from all angles
- ▶ Helps prevent droplets and smudges, since the temperature control rarely needs to be touched
- ▶ New, clear hot/cold markings:
Cold water = green (energy-saving);
Hot water = orange

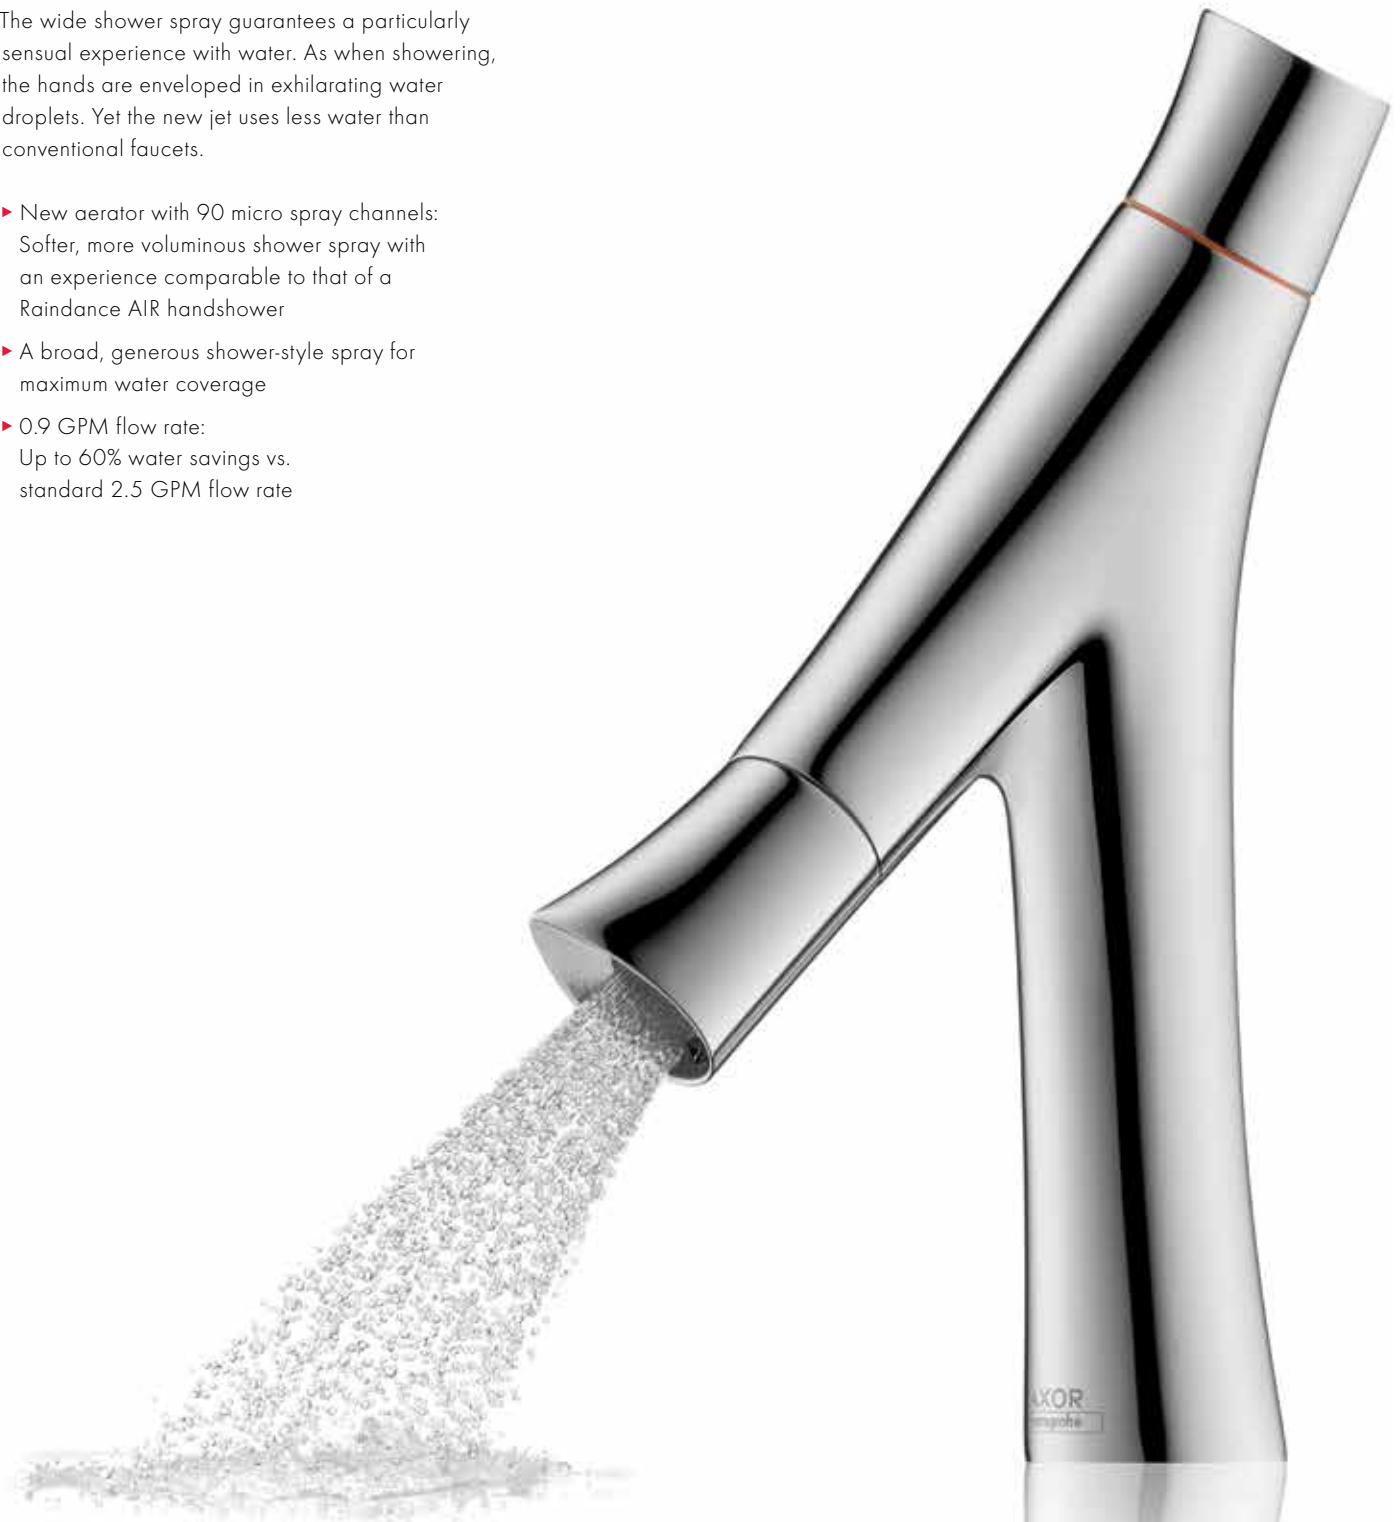

Volume Control

- ▶ Greater cleanliness and convenience with the control directly on the spout
- ▶ Normal position at 0.9 GPM:
Great performance and water savings
- ▶ Gradual water volume control with snap-in positions at 0.9 GPM (normal) and 1.32 GPM (boost setting)

The wide shower spray guarantees a particularly sensual experience with water. As when showering, the hands are enveloped in exhilarating water droplets. Yet the new jet uses less water than conventional faucets.

- ▶ New aerator with 90 micro spray channels:
Softer, more voluminous shower spray with an experience comparable to that of a Raindance AIR handshower
- ▶ A broad, generous shower-style spray for maximum water coverage
- ▶ 0.9 GPM flow rate:
Up to 60% water savings vs. standard 2.5 GPM flow rate

The innovative faucet shower spray creates the feeling of a greater volume of water, but actually requires less water consumption than our standard faucets.

GPM

The powerful, energy-packed faucet design blends harmoniously into a wide variety of bathroom environments.

Stunning contrasts:
The flowing contours of the faucet come together with the minimalist

The Axor Starck Organic collection blends perfectly with different washbasins – whether they are shallow or deep wash bowls, wall-mounted or built-in washbasins.
The organic forms of the faucet and the basin merge together harmoniously.

Axor Starck Organic

Thanks to the combination of organic and geometric shapes, Axor Starck Organic products with concealed installation offer multiple design options for the shower.

The freestanding tub filler features an integrated handshower. Thanks to its organic, minimalist design, it looks great with a wide range of tub styles.

In keeping with the collection's design, the branch-like exposed thermostat harmoniously blends into the tub area.

EVERYTHING FLOWS.

The Axor Bouroullec collection is extremely elegant. The organic, minimalist design of Ronan & Erwan Bouroullec remains in the background at all times. The understated design language of the 40 products that make up this collection makes it particularly versatile. The products blend in harmoniously with any style. They constitute a paradigm shift in universal design: The individual elements can be positioned to suit any requirements – for example, to make them more accessible to children.

The understated design of the faucets from the Axor Bouroullec collection means that they can be combined with all kinds of washbasin shapes and styles, offering numerous design options.

The washbasins in the Axor Bouroullec collection offer plenty of surface area thanks to their integrated shelves, which flow together with apparent ease. These are available as a built-in or wall-mounted version.

74

In the form of space-saving accessories for the wall or counter, shelves are a characteristic element of the Axor Bouroullec collection. They are not only attractive, but also functional.

With two shelves, you have many options for spout and handle placement to suit your own personal requirements.

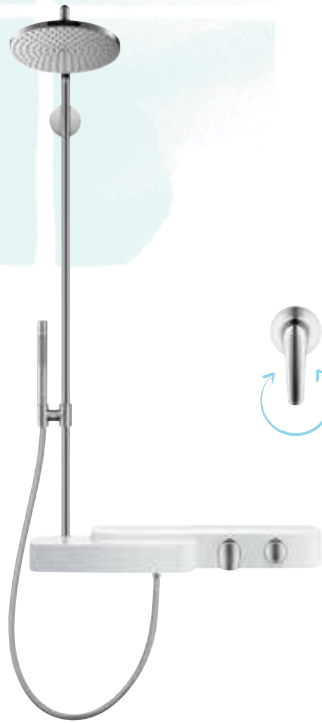

The Axor Bouroullec Showerpipe featuring a large overhead shower and integrated shelves offers space and convenient storage in the shower.

ANTONIO CITTERIO

LUXURY AT A SECOND GLANCE.

Antonio Citterio pays tribute to the element of water with a particularly classic and elegant collection. The Axor Citterio collection enables us to truly enjoy the time we spend in the bathroom. With its precision-formed surfaces and edges and beautiful details, the richness of which becomes clear on second glance. In a bathroom where living and personal hygiene are intentionally cultivated.

Axor Citterio faucets are characterized by their straight edges with hints of elegance and class. These features can be found in all faucet versions – from the single-hole faucet to the classic widespread faucet.

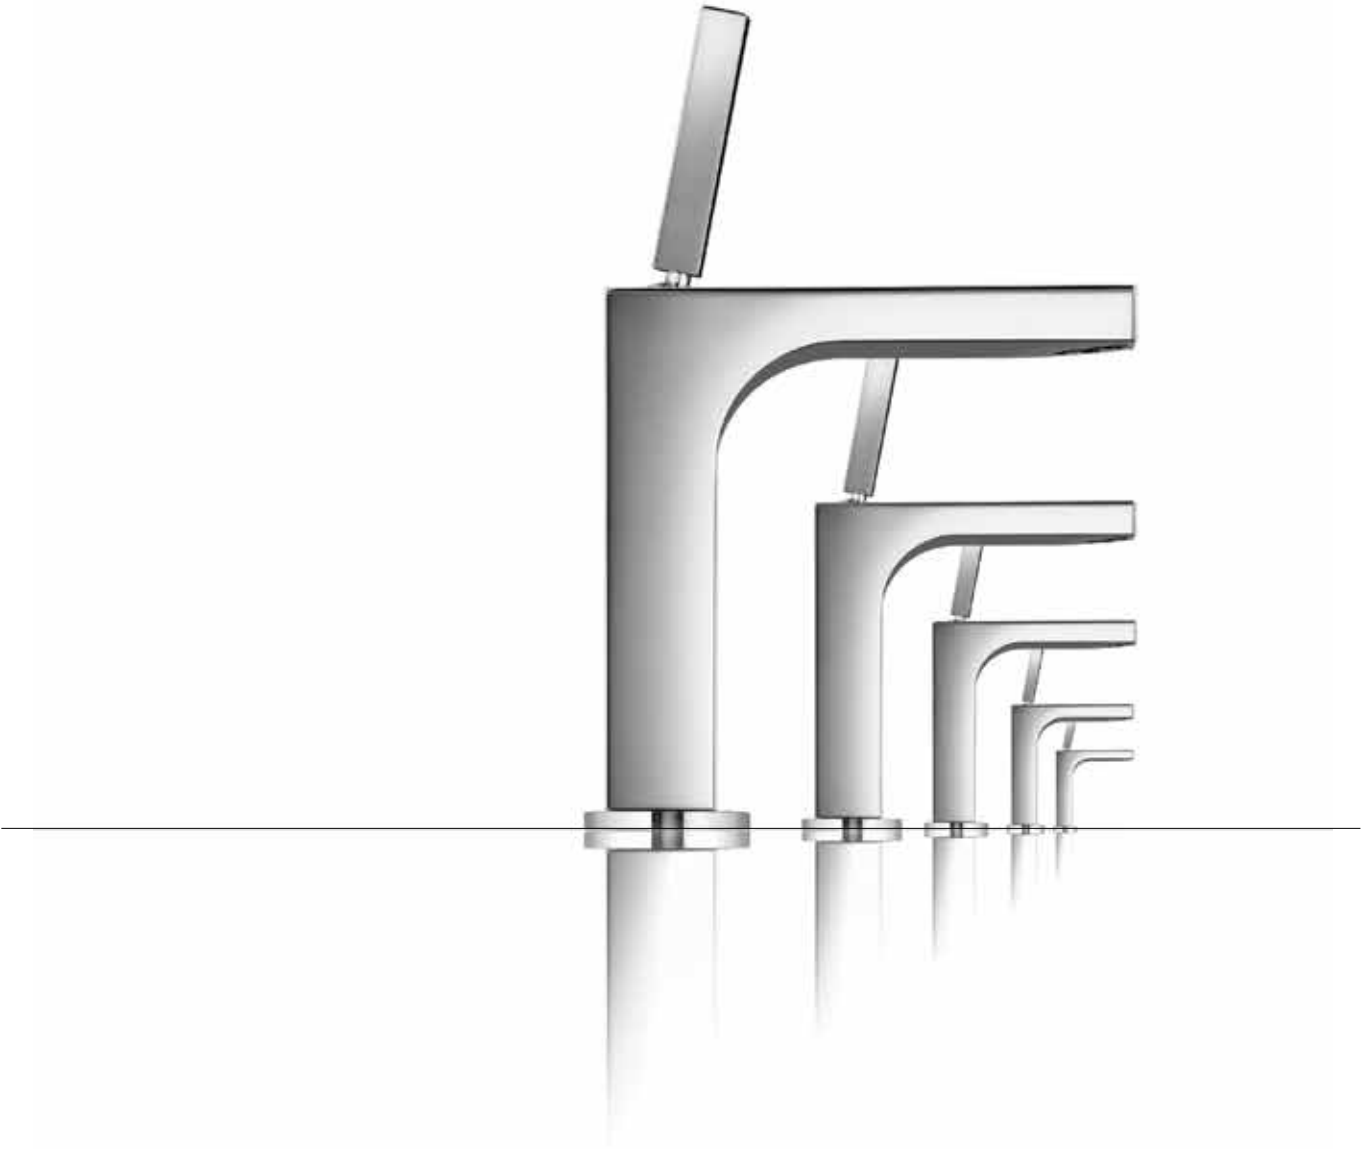

Antonio Citterio designed the elegant, slender cross handles of the faucets in tribute to the Italian architectural style of the 1930s.

Axor Citterio M

ANTONIO CITTERIO

URBAN CHIC.

What does a bathroom collection inspired by modern city life look like? It reflects the fine art of timelessly modern design. The Axor Citterio M collection is shaped by strikingly slender forms and an elegant overall appearance.

The 'M' stands for modernity, metropolis and Milan – the home city of the designer Antonio Citterio. A collection that fits perfectly into different lifestyles, with its unique ease, yet highly striking design.

METROPOLIS

MODERN

A modern bathroom interior featuring a large window with white curtains, a unique pendant light, a bathtub, and a vanity unit. The room is bright and airy, with a view of a city skyline. The text is centered in the middle of the image.

Urban chic. Antonio Citterio takes his inspiration from modern city life. A bathroom collection full of minimalism and elegance, clarity and Italian charm.

The elegant, towering faucet is particularly suited for countertop washbasins.

The characteristic Citterio design is also found in the 4-hole roman tub set.

Axor Urquiola

Awakening your SENSES.

A bathroom collection that awakens our senses. Patricia Urquiola loves mixing different STYLES. Each individual element possesses its own charm and combines with the other items in the room to create a personalized space.

Old and new blend together wonderfully. Soft FORMS that merge with asymmetrics, and large surface areas. Faucets that look like they evolved naturally. The archetypal shape of the washbasin and bathtub makes them resemble old-style wash tubs. Axor Urquiola is a sensual, imaginative collection, down to the very finest DETAIL.

EVERYONE should have their own personal space. For example, this washbasin and faucet from the Axor Urquiola collection.

A fusion of styles at the washbasin: Thanks to its rich, sensuous shape, the Axor Urquiola faucet can be combined with any form of washbasin: Square, round, simple or elaborate.

PLANTS play an important role for the Spanish-born designer.
They offer privacy and enhance QUALITY
OF LIFE.

JEAN-MARIE MASSAUD

NATURE-INSPIRED DESIGN.

Water is the source of all life. Jean-Marie Massaud has developed a bathroom concept that is at one with nature. The faucet becomes a waterfall. The towel rack, a branching tree. The bathtub, a lake.

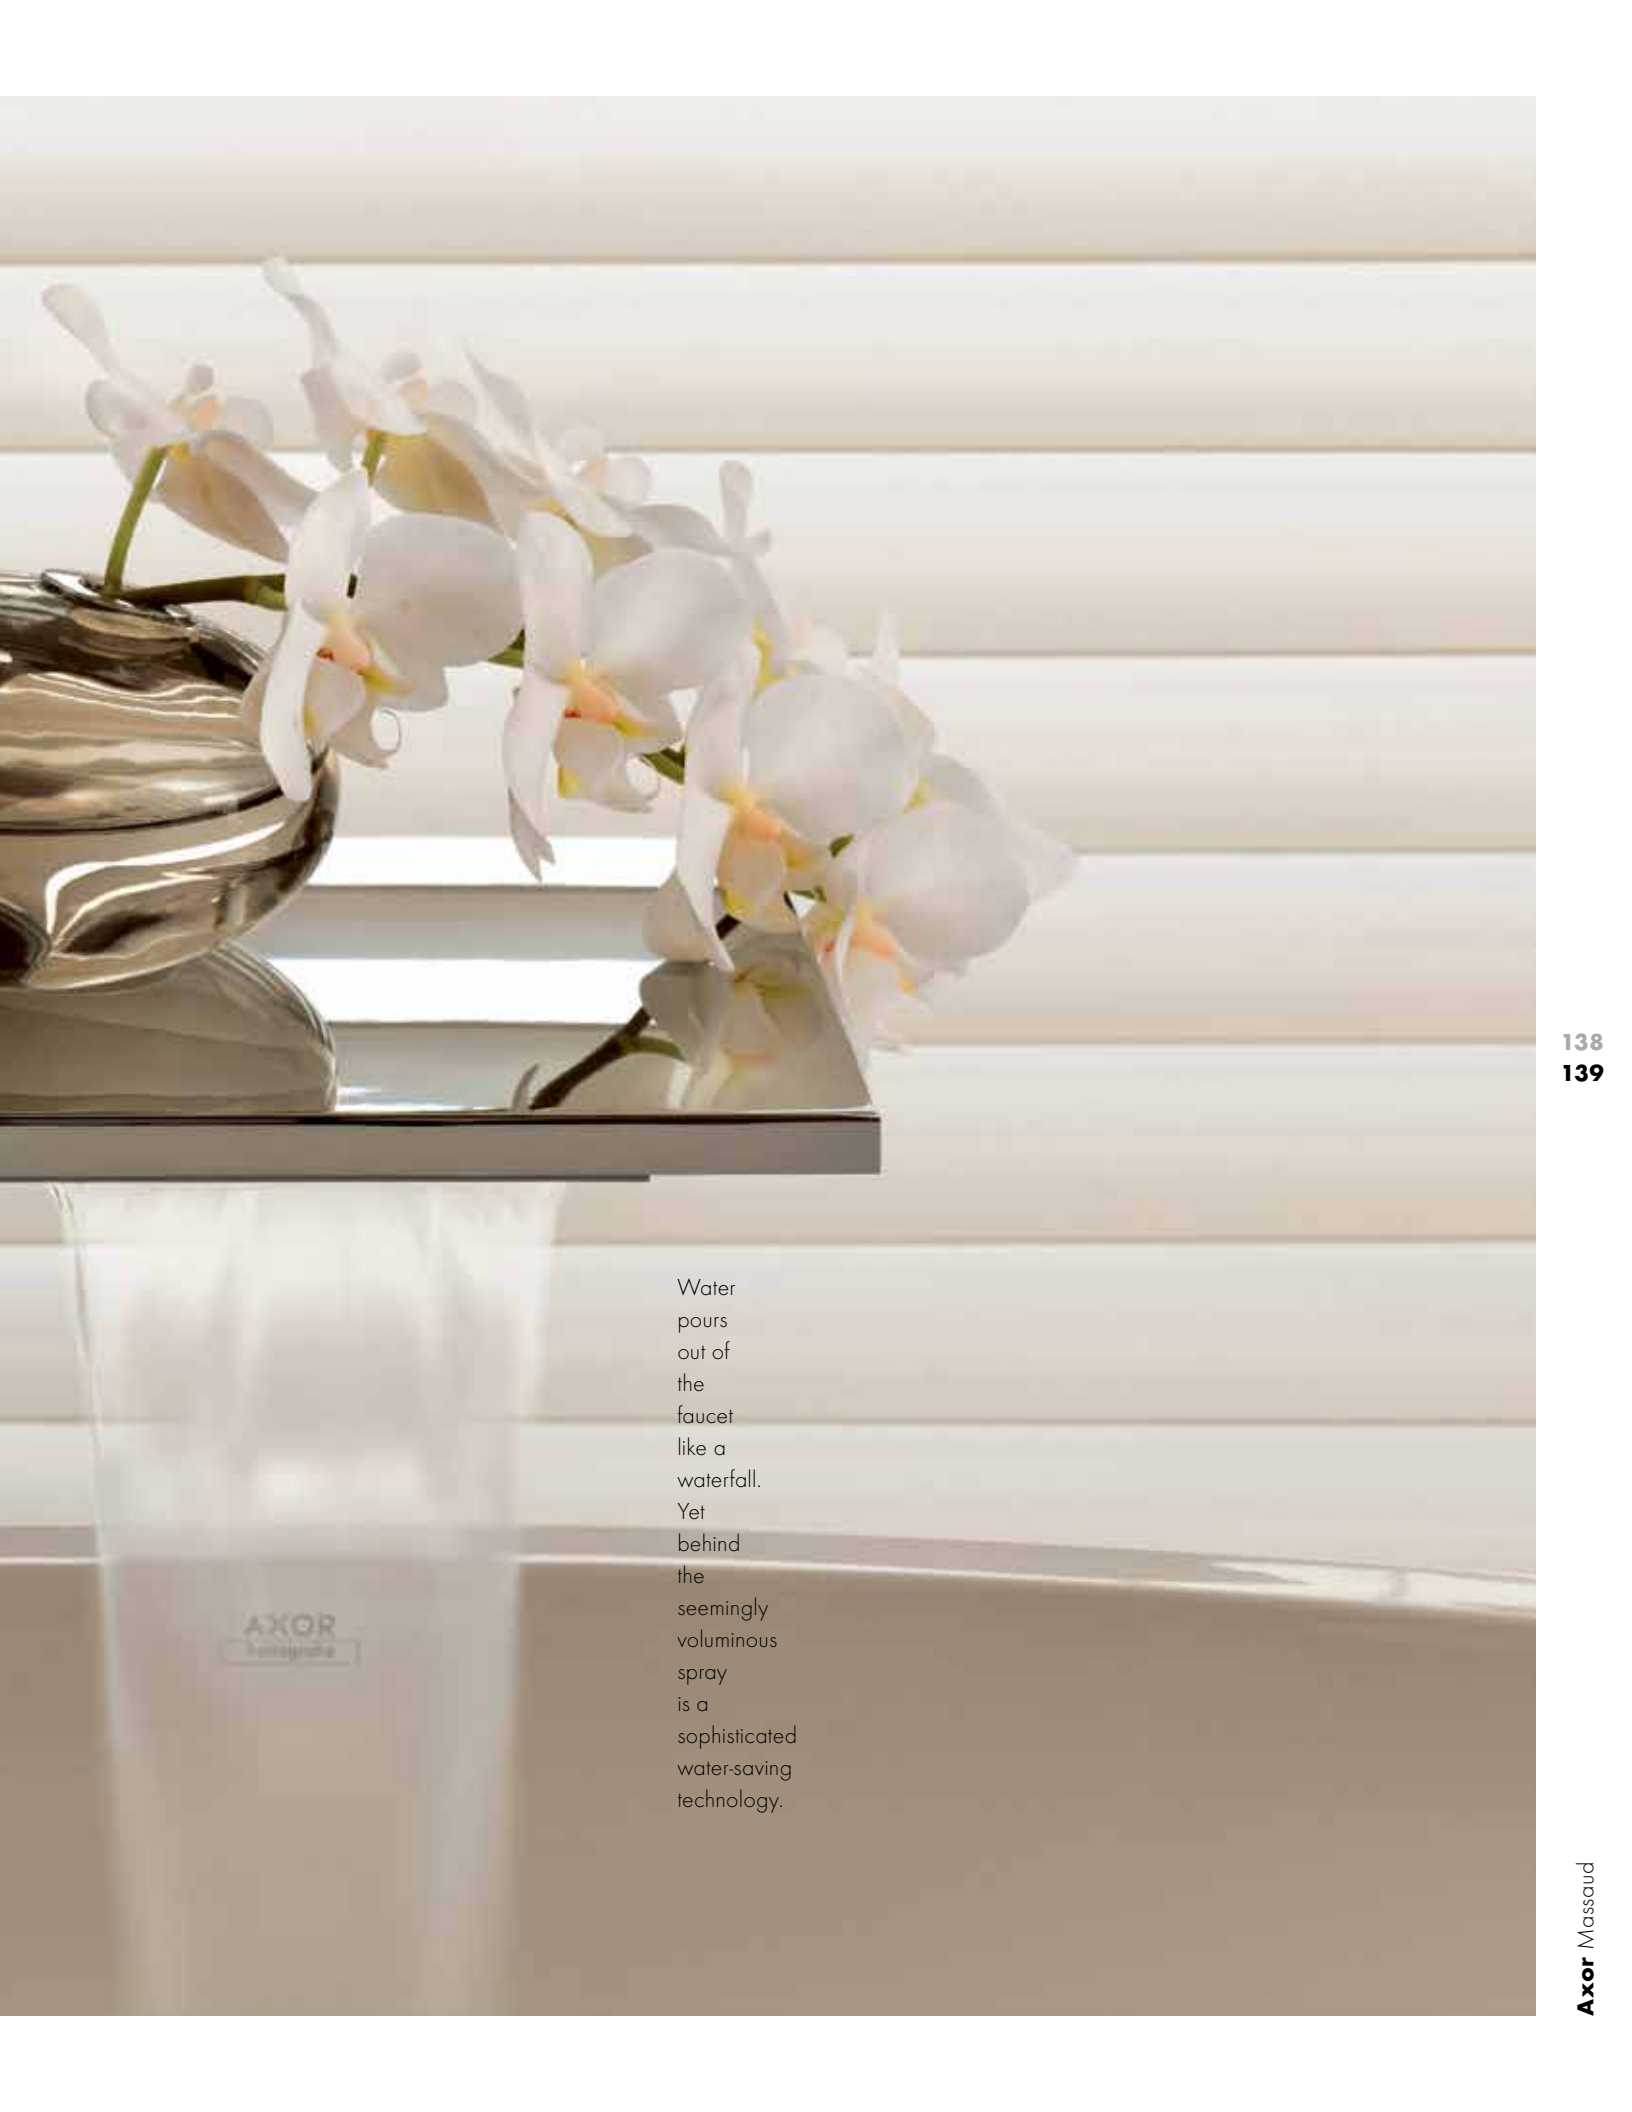

Jean-Marie

136

Water pours out of the faucet like a waterfall.
Yet
behind the seemingly voluminous spray is a sophisticated water-saving technology.

The organically-shaped built-in washbasin and the countertop form an elegant symbiosis.

The towel holder resembles the branches of a tree.

Axor Uno

THE CLASSIC MINIMALIST.

The understated style of this faucet collection is based on a clear, geometric design with high, slender basic forms. This makes it suitable for all bathroom environments and gives people room to express themselves. The Axor Uno collection was designed by long-standing partners Phoenix Design.

Timelessly modern cylindrical shapes – with slender spouts – are ideal for those who appreciate elegant simplicity.

PHOENIX DESIGN

Axor Montreux

TRADITION IN THE BATHROOM.

The Axor Montreux stylish bathroom collection by Phoenix Design sends us back to the early 20th century and captures the spirit of the Belle Époque with its romantic spas. It is both an homage to the sophisticated spa resort on Lake Geneva and a modern collection.

The Axor Montreux collection fits in perfectly with both traditional and modern bathroom environments. In every detail, the faucets invoke memories of traditional industrial design, with modern technology concealed inside. Charming bathroom accessories are available to complement this stylish collection.

The Axor Montreux collection is available in chrome (shown), as well as polished nickel and brushed nickel.

Axor ShowerCollection designed by Philippe Starck

HAUTE COUTURE FOR THE SHOWER.

"Just mix it!" is the theme of the Axor ShowerCollection. The modular design can be used to transform the shower into a tailor-made spa. The simple, customizable system comprising showerheads, shower modules and accessories provides almost endless design freedom. 5 x 5-inch squares can be freely combined to match the concepts that we envision: Horizontal or vertical, centered or asymmetrical, arranged freely or in groups – anything is possible. The Axor ShowerCollection was created in collaboration with Philippe Starck.

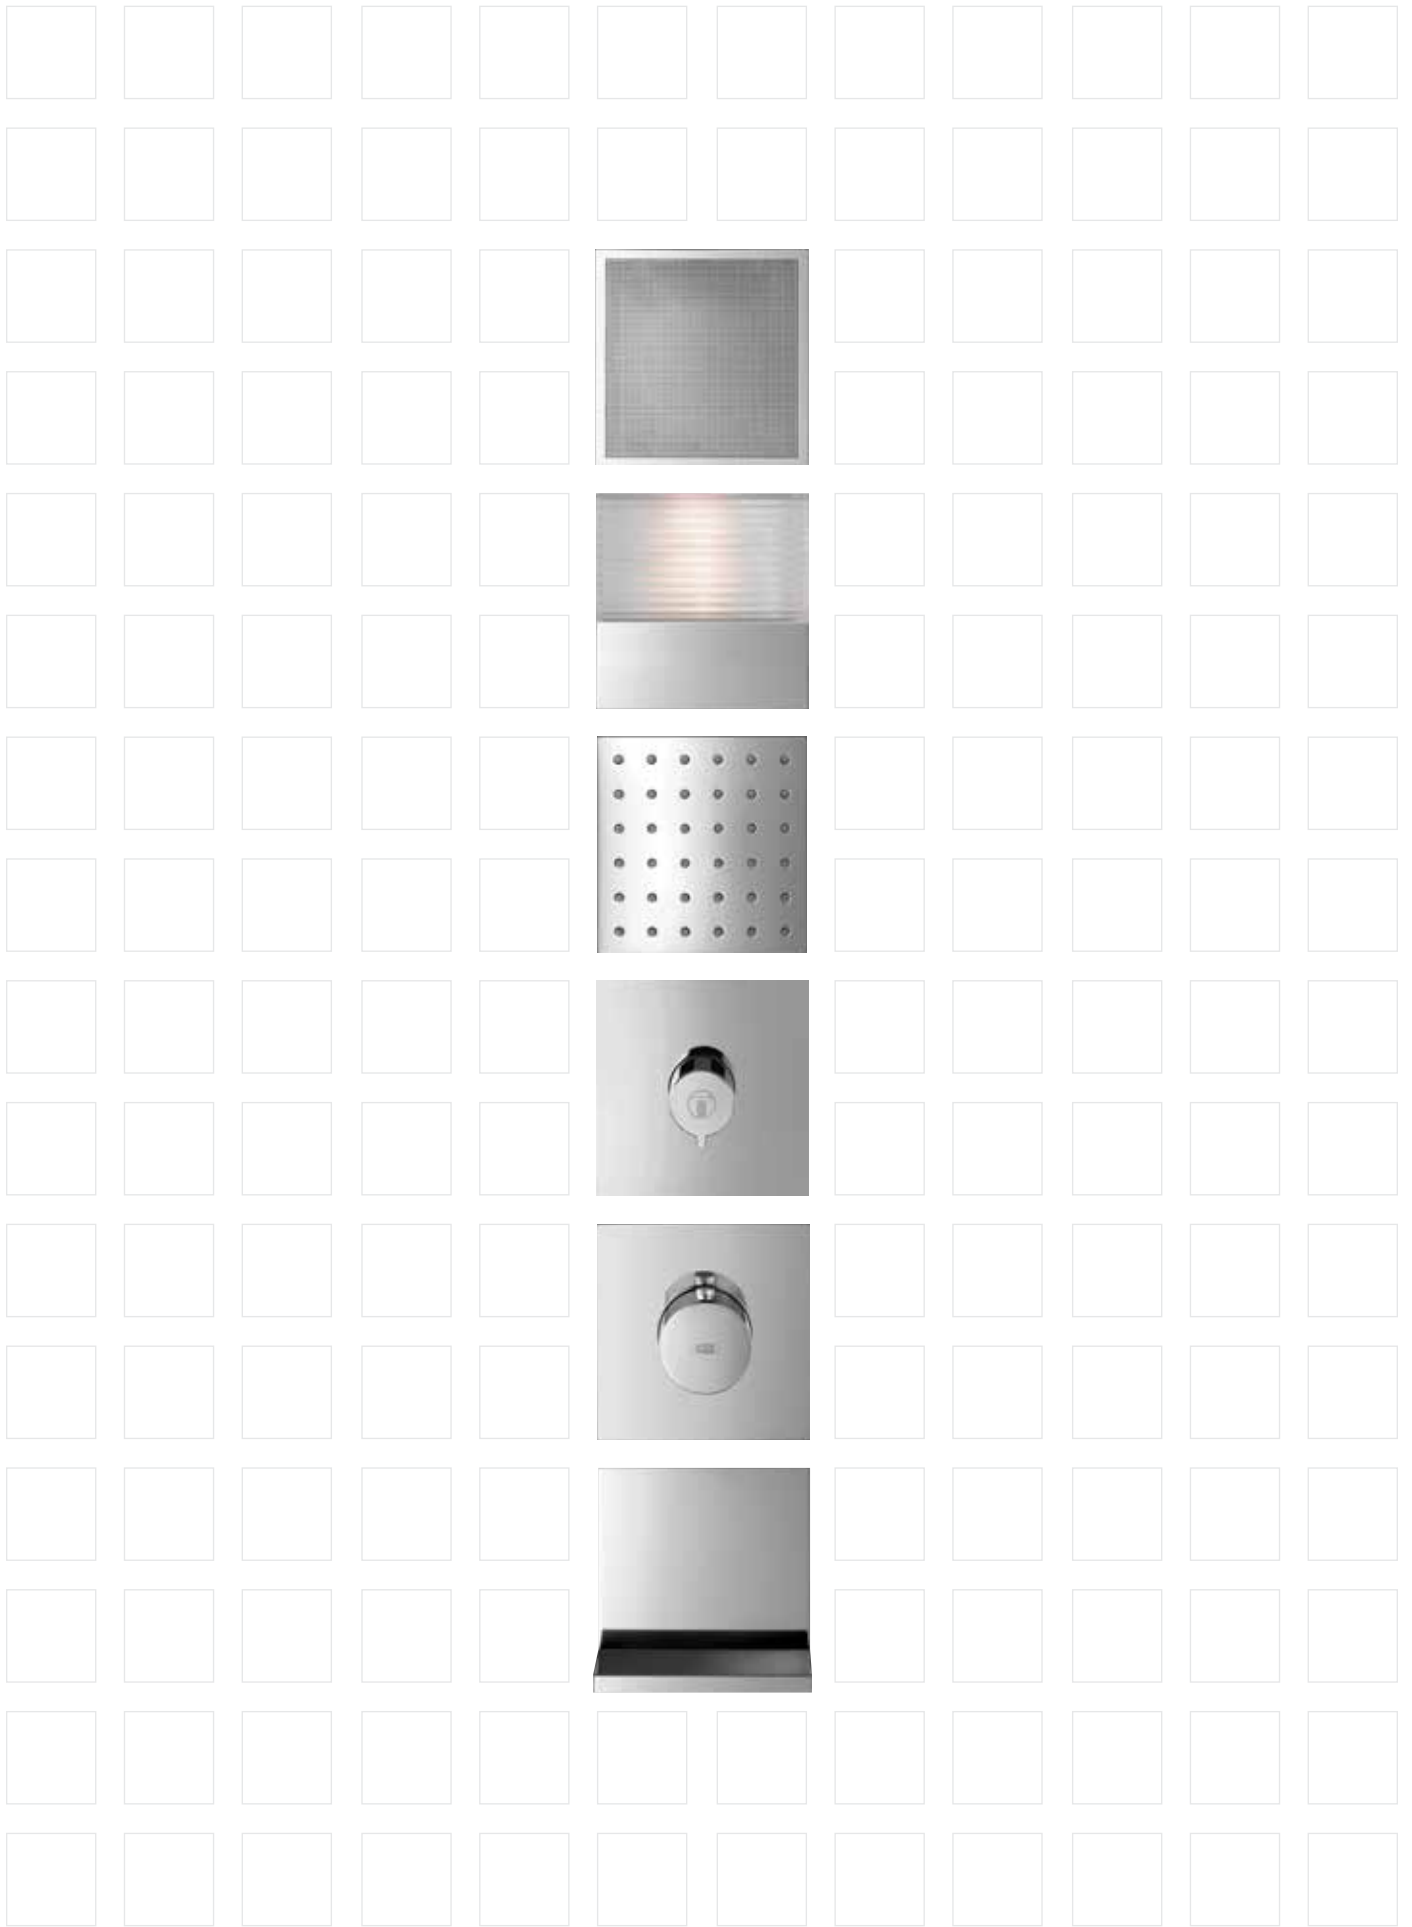

PHILIPPE STARCK

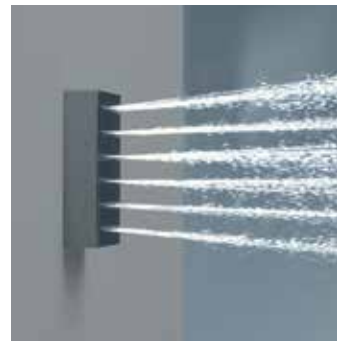

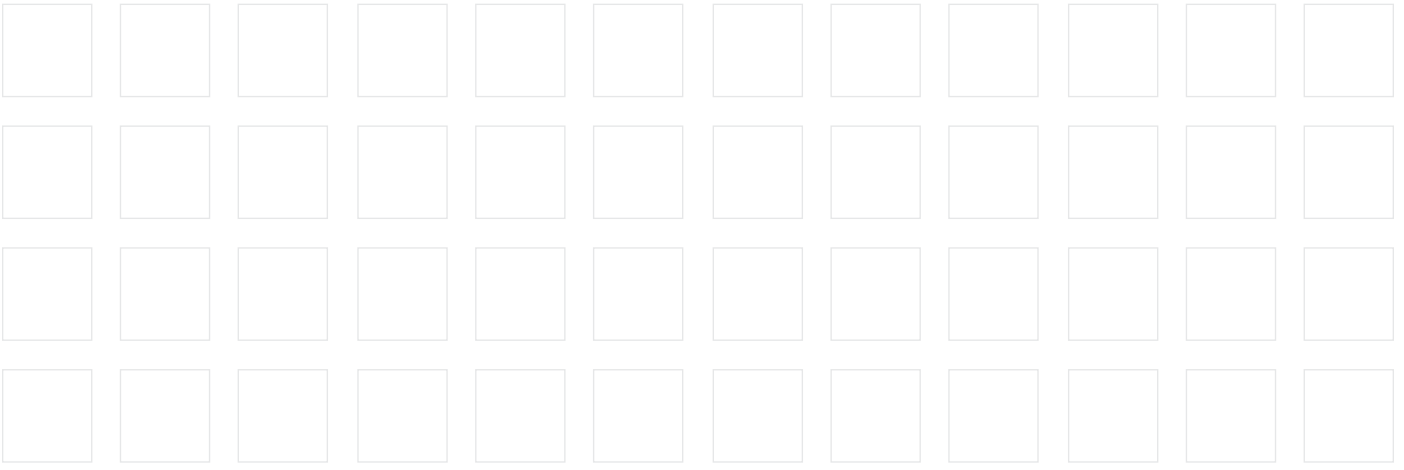

The individual functional modules such as the handshower, shower module, volume control and thermostat can be freely combined to form an exhilarating shower system.

Haute couture for the bathroom.
The luxurious Axor ShowerCollection
ShowerHeaven with three distinctive sprays is the finishing touch to a perfect shower.

Convenience modules enhance the showering experience: From lighting, to speakers, to shelf options.

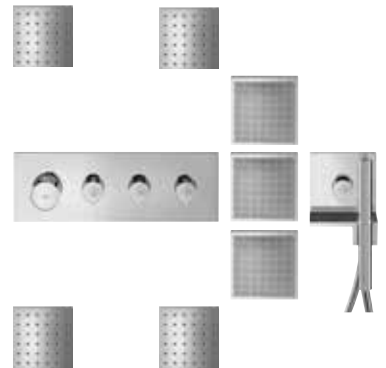

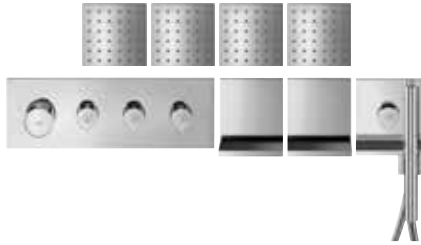

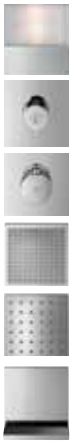

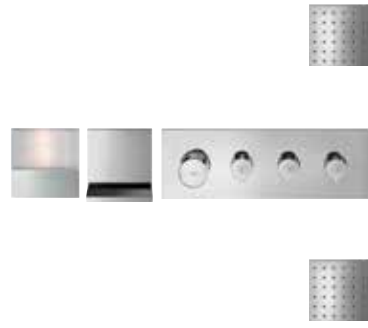

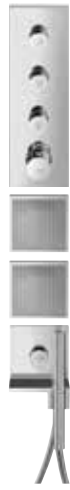

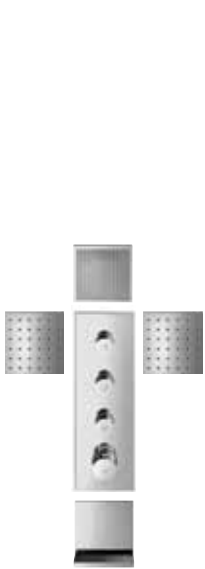

An exciting addition to the Axor ShowerCollection, this new multifunctional tub spout serves as a 10-inch shelf and as a spout with waterfall spray in one.
